Fire Unit Plans Aired Friday At East Brook Grange

Heartened by a fine turnout of some 50 residents and property owners Friday evening at the East Brook Grange hall, planners of a volunteer fire department project for Hickory Township took further steps to make the project a reality.

Nomination of officers was made at the meeting, and constitution and by-laws were framed but not adopted. Election of officers and formal adoption of the laws will be held at the next meeting, Friday, July 11.

Township residents expressed strong support of the plan—a need which has made itself felt for many years in this section of the county.

SOVIET GIVEN UNTIL MONDAY TO MAKE REPLY

Invitation it may be bound by so many conditions and difficulties as to make the early presentation of a practical plan to Washington well nigh impossible.

(The Moscow radio indicated last night that it had received the invitations issued by Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. The radio said Russia was "of course" interested in receiving more information. No hint was given when a formal reply would be sent.)

Diplomatic circles feared that delay would lead to further deterioration not only of the European economy but also of relations with Russia.

Our New Baseball Park

The City of New Castle is gradually, but all too slowly, getting some of the things she needs. The new baseball park built by the Flaherty family is one of those things. This family has not only demonstrated its faith in New Castle by providing jobs for our men and women but have now moved forward to provide recreation for them. Let us as citizens have faith in the owners and the workers of the Johnson Bronze Company as well as all our local industries, be proud of them and co-operate with them. Maybe some day somebody will become interested in providing a couple of first class swimming pools for New Castle, or maybe some seats at our several baseball fields.

But, after all, why should we have to look to our industries for these things?????

My hat is off to the Flaherty family and the men and women of the Johnson Bronze Company.

FILIBUSTER IN SENATE DELAYS ACTION ON VETO

before again trying to get an agreement for a veto late Monday.

Morse had been speaking five and one-half hours at noon and smilingly advised his colleagues to "go home and get some rest" because "there's going to be another fight, another day and another night of this."

But he reminded the Senate that he previously offered to agree to a vote "after the weekend," so the people of the country could have a chance to express themselves on the president's strongly worded veto message.

Sets 12 Year Record

The Senate session which began at noon yesterday set a 12-year record when that hour passed today. In 1935, the "most deliberate body in the world" stayed in session 30 hours and 20 minutes in a Huey Long filibuster on the National Recovery Act.

Senators who conferred with Morse learned that this rambling speech—the first of two he is allowed in one legislative day—probably would last until mid-afternoon, when other willing hands would continue the filibuster.

At that time Wherry planned to ask for agreement to vote at 4 or 5 p. m. Monday, and hoped to get it.

No Vote Today

With opponents of the measure showing no signs of weakening after the Senate's first all-night session in 12 years, Wherry said his intention was to drop the GOP battle to force a vote by 5 p. m. (EDT) today.

The House by a smashing vote of 331 to 83 overrode the veto yesterday but the Senate, where the margin is expected to be much slimmer, has been stymied by the opposition's filibuster.

Sen. Morse (R) Ore., one of the few Republicans opposing the labor reform bill, took over the oratorical task at 6:30 a. m.

Morse said he would talk "several hours." Sen. Johnson (D) S. C., was scheduled to take over the filibuster when Morse finished.

Wherry, red-eyed and showing the effects of the long, sleepless night, said, however, that he would make another attempt before Johnson took the floor to get an agreement to a vote on Monday and then recess.

Recess Efforts Defeated

Two daybreak attempts by the Nebraska to bring about a recess were defeated.

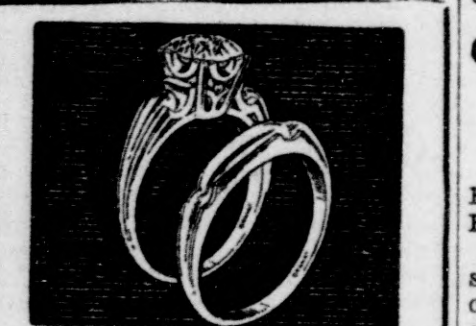

Sen. Dworshak (R) Ida., blocked unanimous consent on Wherry's proposal to vote at 1 p. m. Monday. Johnson opposed another suggestion to vote at 3 p. m. Monday.

During Wherry's maneuvers, Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., sought to gain the floor and make another speech against the bill. Pepper already had spoken twice.

Pepper's motion to defer further consideration of the bill until 2 p. m. Monday, which would have given him an opportunity to speak again, was blocked when Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, moved to lay the motion on the table. The Senate backed Taft, 50 to 14.

Morse resumed the filibuster after Sen. Taylor (D) Ida., had held the floor eight hours and 20 minutes during the night. Taylor was followed by Sen. Kilgore (D) W. Va., who talked for an hour and 45 minutes.

The zircon was known before the days of Christ and is still found in shades of yellow, brown, orange, white, blue, green and sometimes red.

REPORT WAGE AGREEMENTS IN FIVE LOCAL PLANTS

chairman of the negotiating committee represented the plant union Local 1283.

Shenango Pottery Company—The present contract does not call for a general wage increase, due to the 8½ cents increase received by the plant in February, at which time both parties had agreed that the reopening of the wage issue would not be until such time as it may be opened by the rest of the vitrified china industry.

However, the local negotiations stipulates that the premium pay for reporting time was increased from two hours to four hours. The vacation plan was increased to three weeks for 25 years service, this section marking the first time the industry is granting a decisive vacation time increase.

The company and union agreed that an insurance and hospitalization plan will be worked out to supplement the present sick and accident program now in effect at the plant. Also a cafeteria will be installed to supply at least one hot meal per shift to employees not to exceed costs.

James M. Smith, Jr., company president, is the plant manager; Jack McCombs, chairman of the negotiating committee represented the plant union Local No. 3125.

Standard Steel Springs Company—An hourly increase of 12½ cents across the board, retroactive April 1, 1947, and time and a half for the sixth and seventh day of work. The insurance and hospitalization plan does not enter into this contract, for this company is one of the pioneer companies in this field, already to have the benefits of the insurance and hospitalization benefit plan, paid exclusively by the company.

T. C. McClain, is the plant manager. Representing local plant union Local No. 2646, as the negotiating chairman was Hugh Houston.

Bessemer Limestone and Cement Company, Bessemer—An hourly increase of 12½ cents across the board, retroactive May 1, 1947. A fringe adjustment of wage inequities was made which total 29 cents in addition to the general wage increase.

New shower and other facilities will be provided, which means a construction of a new building, approximately 60x180 feet, locker rooms and showers, etc. Three weeks vacation for 25 years service will also be given the employees. The company and union jointly investigated the possibility of an increase in the present insurance and hospitalization plan.

R. E. Roscoe, is the plant manager, and Milan Valentine, is the negotiating chairman, a local plant union No. 2723.

New Castle Water Company—An hourly increase of 11½ cents across the board. The agreement further stipulates for a shift differential of two cents for the afternoon turn and four cents for the midnight turn, in addition to the hourly rate. This is the first time that differences were made for the various shifts.

A clause was included in the contract for the reopening of wages issue following the expiration of one year. Vacation plan offers three weeks to those having 25 years of service.

Sam Barge of New York, president of the American Electric Water Company, and J. LePere Matheus, local company general manager, represented the company.

Ernest Neyman, was the negotiating chairman of the local union, United Utility Workers No. 171.

Hill and Miss Mason were upstairs, making preparations to vacate the apartment when the five shots rang out and felled the gangster.

Police said that all the bullets were fired from a .45 caliber automatic.

Miss Mason and Smiley notified authorities.

Police said they were unable to determine whether Siegel was slain by one or more assassins.

A dragnet to round up possible suspects was spread throughout the city.

We will have as speaker, Art Alexander, recreational director of the city. He will illustrate his talk with pictures of local interest.

A city-wide recreational program for children is important and should not have to depend on small appropriations and freewill offerings. A tax levy the same as set up for the library would be the proper solution. This is a thought for the civic activities committee. Much credit should be given Mayor Haven and the school board for what is being done.

In the St. Elias Syrian Orthodox church, East Reynolds street, on Sunday afternoon, June 8, a ceremony marked by simplicity solemnized the wedding of Miss Genevieve M. Mahfood, Steubenville, O., and George S. Deepe, 1116 Sciota street, New Castle.

Before the altar, decorated with cut flowers, vows were exchanged in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Fr. Luke Khoury officiated, assisted by Fr. Elias Nader.

The bride was attractive in a white marquisette gown and fingertip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid. Miss Ethel Higgins of Monongahela, her only attendant, wore an aqua marquisette gown and carried a colonial bouquet of red roses. Dr. Charles Nader of New Kensington served as best man.

A reception for 200 guests was held immediately after the ceremony at St. George Orthodox church. Mr. and Mrs. Deepe departed by plane for Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Deepe, a graduate of Ohio university, Athens, O., is a teacher in public schools of Charleroi, Pa. Mr. Deepe, a graduate of the local high school and Geneva college, is a veteran of World War II. He is employed at Veterans Administration in Pittsburgh.

CAN U. S. LEAVE JAPAN?

Evidently there is some disagreement on the scene as to when Japan will be ready for parole.

General MacArthur is on record as believing she can be left to her own devices very soon—shortly after the signing of a peace treaty. But American military government officials who administer populous southwestern Japan are reported to be “unanimous” in the belief that American occupation must be maintained for many years, perhaps for a generation.

Japan hasn't had time, these officials say, to break with her totalitarian past. The Japs are changing, but if the United States pulled out they would drift back into their former ways of thinking and acting. The 150,000 occupation troops now in Japan will not all be needed, in the opinion of these officials, but there should be enough to maintain American supervision in each of Japan's 46 prefectures.

If this is true, it is bad news for American taxpayers. Occupation costs are high. It is now asserted that it will be necessary for American armed might to remain in Germany longer than had been thought, and that the recovery of Europe is going to take longer than anyone expected. The same prospect for Japan is not encouraging.

Probably the truth lies somewhere between these differing opinions. It is hardly to MacArthur's discredit if he has been over-optimistic. He has had the habit of accomplishing the impossible, and the complexity of the problems he faces now would tax the grasp of any man.

It would not be wise to withdraw from Japan too hastily, but it should be possible to avoid the necessity of staying indefinitely.

BLOW TO WAR ON WASTE

Representative Halleck, majority leader of the House, is right in saying the President's veto of the tax bill makes doubly hard the task of reducing federal expenditures. “What's the use?” is likely to be the attitude of many members of Congress when they are asked to stand four-square against extravagance in government and in favor of clipping the wings and power of bureaucracy.

What the President has done by his veto is to give the impression that the government at Washington must continue to spend money at a lavish rate. As a result, advocates of economy may be understandingly discouraged, although they are in a position, by cutting appropriations, to achieve the results they desire.

With all hope of lower taxes gone, they will lack the former intense urge to carry out their campaign promise to do something for the people.

This could be one of the worst consequences of the Truman veto. The spenders are not exactly in the saddle but there are enough of them to interfere with, if not actually block, the efforts of the majority to put government on a business basis.

The need for saving money is as acute as ever. Popular demand for lopping off useless government personnel and service is no less insistent than before. Because of the opposition of one man, the American people will not have their taxes reduced. But there is still hope that expenditures can be reduced, despite opposition, if Congress will do its duty.

KEEPING COOL INDOORS

When the weather becomes warm and humid the problem of keeping the house cool is not to be lightly passed over. It is desirable to be comfortable during the hours of wakefulness. It is essential to get some sleep at night. In the absence of an air-conditioning system, measures must be taken.

On this every member of the family is in full agreement with all others. But in deciding what measures, opinions may clash. There are, broadly speaking, two schools of thought on how to beat the heat.

One school believes in shutting up the house tight to keep the coolness in. The other holds that the only way is to open the windows and doors and let air circulate through the rooms.

It is natural that there should be at least two schools. Some houses are amenable to the shut-up treatment and others are cooler when they are open to the breezes if any. The trouble is that people who live in any particular house are not unanimous on how to classify it.

The result may be that one member of the family will try to keep windows closed and another will go around opening them.

This is not conducive to harmony. Besides, neither theory gets a fair chance under such circumstances. A solution would seem to be to try both systems, by turns, in order to decide which is the better. Unfortunately, the experiment is not likely to succeed too well because exact comparisons are difficult and both sides refuse to be convinced by inconclusive evidence.

So the argument may go on and on until one disputant or the other realizes it is only making things worse.

Among articles left behind on an Illinois street car was a radio—but few cities still have street cars.

Hints On Etiquette

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Senator Tobey Is Given Commendation

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The New England conscience is a wonderful and a fearful thing. It has contributed immeasurably to American character.

A generous measure of that conscience belongs to Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire. Like so many other New Englanders before him who have fought the battles of conscience, Tobey does not hesitate to champion unpopular causes.

He was one of the very few Republicans and the only senator from the industrial East to oppose actively the Reed-Bulwinkle bill. He opposed it because he believes it gives to the railroads the kind of economic power that no private company or group of companies should possess. In permitting the roads to agree on rates outside the scope of the anti-trust laws, the bill, as Tobey sees it, gives to private corporations a greater power than government.

When the Senate passed the Reed-Bulwinkle bill, Tobey could not be present to have his final say against it. He was called back to New Hampshire by the serious illness of his wife, who has been his lifelong helpmate and partner.

Southern Opposition
His presence in the Senate would, of course, have made no difference in the outcome. The vote on adoption was 60 for and 27 against. Most of the opposition came from southern senators, including conservative Democrats who believe that higher freight rates in the south are part of a pattern of discrimination that holds their region and the West in colonial dependence.

Western senators opposed it, too. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, whose opposition to monopoly controls is unrelenting.

A WEDDING GUEST'S PROBLEMS

“I have received an invitation to a wedding reception as well as the ceremony, the latter taking place at 4:30 p. m., the former at 7:30 p. m. in the home of the bride. What are we to do in the interim between going to the church and to the bride's house three hours later. We live 25 miles away. If we decide to attend the ceremony only, must we take a gift? They are not especially close friends of mine. What kind of clothes should I wear?”

Answer: If you go to both the ceremony and the reception, you will have to “kill time” somewhere between one and the other. To the ceremony, you should wear “dressy” street-length clothes which you may also wear to the reception in view of the distance you must travel. This you should do even if the reception is to be formal. The fact that you were invited to the reception necessitates your sending a gift. This is so whether or not you attend either the ceremony or the reception.

Question: Please list the items that comprise a bride's linens, as well as her trousseau.

Answer: Linens of every description should be included—bedroom linens should include sheets, pillow cases, bedspreads, blankets and quilts; bureau and dresser covers. Towels of all classes are necessary—small, dainty guest towels; hand, face and bath towels; face cloths, bath mats and dish and hand towels for the kitchen. The most important household linen is that for your dining room. Every bride should possess large and small damask table cloths with napkins to match; breakfast, luncheon and tea cloths with accompanying napkins; doilies for bread and cake plates; scarf or covers for the dining table, buffet serving table. The quantity of each should depend upon your social life, how much entertaining you will do and how much you wish to spend for laundry.

Trousseau: A generation ago, every bride was supposed to bring to her husband's house sufficient clothes in her trousseau to last for at least two years. But modern fashions change so rapidly that this rule has been disregarded. You should, however, have at least a dozen pieces of each item of lingerie and a sufficient number of outer garments to last for about a year. Many modern brides are financially independent of their husbands. Those with salaries of their own are laws unto themselves.

Words Of Wisdom

Knowledge has, in our time, triumphed, and is triumphing, over prejudice and over bigotry. The civilized and Christian world is fast learning the great lesson, that necessary hostility and that all contact need not be war. The world is becoming a common field for intellect to act in energy of mind, genius, power, wheresoever it exists, may speak out in any tongue, and the world will hear it.—Daniel Webster.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PARENTS OFTEN TO BLAME IF CHILD IS RUDE

It must be exasperating to parents when a youngster seven or eight acts, especially in the presence of guests or hosts, as if their suggestion or command meant nothing. Neither can it be very pleasant for the guest or host.

Yet the child is not the one to be condemned, nor should the parent be vexed at him. His “heedlessness” was learned through the way they have dealt with him. Moreover, if he has no respect for his parents’ word when he is in their presence away from home, we can be sure he also has no such respect at home. A mother writes of her boy nine years old:

“He is very stubborn. He also always has to snoop into other people's things. For instance, if we go visiting some place, he will take this and that and will open it and look at it. If we tell him to put it down he just stands there and keeps tinkering with it as if he hadn't heard us at all.”

answered the mother about as follows: “You and Dad should lay down and take stock and map out a plan for teaching that lad to respect other people's rights and your authority.”

Aim first to establish a solid front and to get on companionably, you and Dad. Then get yourselves completely under control so you never shout at the lad. Agree to overlook small matters and center on a few things he must never do in your presence.

When he does any one of these forbidden things, assign him (using the fewest possible words in a mod-

SUMMER

Now 'tis summer once again,
Gone the fickle maiden, spring;
Now the time for ripening grain,
Now the days for blossoming.

Men their fellows have betrayed
When by passions strong assailed,
But to keep each promise made
Never yet has summer failed.

Blue the summer skies will be,
Children play the whole day long.
Fruit will come unto the tree,
Birds will fill the air with song.

Moon and stars at night will throw
Silver beams on lake and sea,
As the Master, long ago,
Saw them shine on Galilee.

State Police Say:—

An old car in the hands of a careful driver is safer than a new car in the hands of a foolish driver. But safety of all is the driver who takes care in the car that has been taken care of. Don't drive with faulty brakes. Don't drive with faulty steering mechanism. Don't drive with worn tires. A few minutes and a few pennies spent at a service station are preferable to dollars and days spent at a hospital.

The World and the Mud Puddles

LYING COMMUNISTS

Many Americans doubt whether it was wise to appropriate so many million dollars to be expended by Greece and Turkey to fight Communism, but every true-blooded American would like to see a few million dollars spent right here to drive the Reds out of the United States.

Nobody knows accurately the extent of Communist infiltration in this country. It is known, however, that there are several thousand Russians here in various capacities. It is known that Communists are active and influential in labor unions.

Congressional investigation seems to have shown, for example, that the prolonged Alis-Chalmers strike, characterized by rioting and constant violence, was led by Communist labor leaders. We know that Communism has figured heavily in our maritime strikes. We know that it has infested the Mill and Mine Workers Union to an extent which prompts that body to withdraw from the CIO. William Green has charged directly that Communists are dominant in the CIO. Philip Murray has acknowledged the accusation by ordering frequent “purges”—none of which seems to have been of much avail.

Permeates Schools
We know that Communism has permeated our public schools, through pseudo-youth organizations and by use of text books. Only recently a series of “histories” lauding Communism has been rejected by educational authorities.

We know that Communism has penetrated our institution of higher learning and that it has manifested itself in certain of our religious organizations and pulpits.

Worst of all, we know that there is a large group of Communists in various departments of the federal government—including the policy-making State Department, whose “secrets” are an open book to other nations by means of the Red grapevine.

It would not cost millions of dollars or entail any military action to get rid of these infiltrators into our governmental, labor, educational and religious life. The Supreme Court has just affirmed the right of the government to discharge an employee of doubtful loyalty. The decision opens the way for a real housecleaning. Unfortunately, the Harry Bridges decision makes it extremely difficult to deport alien Red agitators, as proof is difficult and a first principle of the loyal Communist is to deny his membership in the party.

But it is still perfectly feasible for the rank and file of the Unions, the heads of the government departments, public school officials and church membership to eliminate the Reds who have worked their way into our activities. Small as the investment required might be, it might prove in the long run as important as the redemption of other nations from the Communist threat.

PATCH TEST

Our County Tuberculosis Association is doing a good work in providing the patch test for our school children.

This patch test is not a test for tuberculosis. It is a test to find those who should be examined for tuberculosis.

A small piece of adhesive tape or sticking plaster is applied to the skin and allowed to stay in place for a few hours.

If the test is positive the papil is given the privilege of having an X-ray picture of the lungs to find out whether there are any signs of tuberculosis or not.

The tests are free. The X-ray pictures are free. There is no compulsion. There is no danger or inconvenience from the patch test. The X-rays are just like having a snap shot picture taken.

It is a Good Samaritan proposition the whole way through.

They Say

LONDON—Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary urges speed on Marshall plan for reconstruction of Europe: “I shall not be a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe by finessing or procedure or terms of reference or whatever paraphernalia that might go with it. There is too much involved.”

CHICAGO—Nikolai V. Novikov, Soviet ambassador to the United States: “The Soviet Union holds the view that it is not only possible but desirable that there be co-operation between the United States of America and the Soviet Union.”

WASHINGTON—Rear Admiral Elmo Zumwalt opposes bill proposing merger of the armed forces: “I say without reservation, that this bill presents a danger to us far greater than any possible enemy in the world today.”

Great Game Of Politics

Need Economy At Home

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Conceding the urgent necessity of saving European civilization from collapse—if our own economic health is to escape serious impairment—that cause is not particularly furthered by the slightly hysterical support of some of its more ardent advocates. It is not exaggeration to say that these are bordering on panic.

FOR EXAMPLE, it does seem more than a little unbalanced to voice the view that the gravity of the foreign situation is such that it makes slight difference what happens now in domestic affairs. Especially, it is contended that the Republican drive for economy has become relatively so trivial that it no longer can be taken seriously and should be dropped. To properly assay this interesting idea it ought to be explained that it largely emanates from the heavy political thinkers who from the start have opposed any cut in any appropriation.

THEY belong to the school of Democrats which wants the Democratic party to continue its servile alliance with the CIO. From the beginning they put all the pressure they could on Mr. Truman to veto the labor bill. Their present argument that economy in government has lost its point because of the great sums involved in the Marshall expansion of the Truman Doctrine is as absurd that it is difficult to understand how it can seriously be presented. While, unquestionably, some who do so are politically motivated and wholly insincere, nevertheless there are others who appear to have lost their sense of proportion in contemplating the immensity of the Marshall plan and actually believe this is no time to count the cost or consider such things as the elimination of governmental waste.

OF COURSE, the exact reverse of that contention is the truth. The truth is that the Marshall plan, which may increase our foreign expenditures $5,000,000,000 a year for five years, makes economy at home vastly more vital than it was before. If reduction in the cost and size of the governmental machine was essential to the solvency and stability of the nation prior to the launching of the Marshall plan, the additional strain which it proposes to put on the Federal financial structure makes it infinitely more essential. The sturdiness of that structure has become so terribly important, not only to us but to the world, that it would seem even the feeblest mind could understand the urgent need to leave nothing undone to strengthen it.

GOVERNMENTAL waste, which is indefensible under any conditions, becomes criminal under those that now exist. Instead of permitting their effort to languish, the Republicans drive should gain in power. Their determination to reduce appropriations in every department should be intensified because their position is now buttressed with added and unanswerable arguments. Putting our own financial house in order by the elimination of every unnecessary expenditure is wholly essential to the operation of any such foreign policy as that upon which we have embarked. Clearly, it can only be successfully operated by a nation so strong that it will not totter under the burden.

AND, instead of inspiring and encouraging the terrific resistance which every department, division, board and commission is offering to any cut, it would seem the clear duty of Mr. Truman, at least, to put an end to that type of resistance, which has included downright misrepresentation. In the interests of his foreign policy for which he asks—and must have—Republican support, the President ought to alter his attitude. At least, it would make him appear more in harmony with his tax veto message. He ought, in fact, to be glad that the Congress, controlled by the opposition party is headed in the retrenchment direction. It easily might have gone the other way. Economy now, even if it goes beyond the four-and-a-half-billion cut which Chairman Taber claims—and every dollar of which has been resisted by the Administration—is not going to wreck us as Administration wheel horses have been shouting. On the contrary, it may be the sole means of saving us.

The world's most widely indulged-in guessing game—what is Soviet Russia going to do—engaged international attention again today.

At the center of the table stake was the whole immediate future of Europe. For Secretary of State Marshall dealt out a hand that everyone could play in continuance of American financial and material aid to Europe.

And no definite word came immediately from Moscow as to whether Russia would cooperate.

Ends on Strange Note
The sudden meeting between British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault in Paris ended on a strangely vacuous note, with nothing more concrete accomplished beyond a decision to ask Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to participate in future discussions.

There were varying explanations for the Soviet Union's official silence on the Marshall plan and the Communist press' superficial criticisms.

In some circles, it was felt that Marshall's proposal putting American assistance on a “business basis” compelling recipient nations to contribute materially to their own recovery had taken Russia so completely by surprise that a thorough reorientation in Moscow may be required.

This theory had as its basis the long-recognized fact that Russia is opposed unalterably to indefinite continuance of American financial and military influence upon European soil.

Most diplomatic observers believed it was impossible that the Russians could reject outright any acquiescence to the Marshall plan as enun-

Jimmy Gwin Leaves Sunday For National Play-Offs In Wildwood, New Jersey

JIMMY GWIN

A dream which can only come true to one boy in hundreds is the exclusive property of Jimmy Gwin of 305 N. Ray street as he prepares to leave for Wildwood, N. J. Sunday to try his skill in the national marble-shooting tournament for the top diadem in the school-boy sport.

Jimmy, age 11, and a cool competitor under fire, will be accompanied by Martin Leonard, Lincoln-Garfield school teacher and Optimist club member. The New Castle branch of the Optimists sponsored the county eliminations and is sending their representative to the resort city for the week's round of matches. While at the ocean city the county champ and his advisor will stay at the Adelphi-Witt hotel from June 23-27.

First In National

Young Jimmy is the first Lawrence county boy to ever try his skill in the national play-offs. In 1941, the last year the tourney was held in this county, James Elias of Lincoln-Garfield school advanced to the state finals at Hershey, only to miss the last marble in the final game and lose the right to represent his state in the final play-offs.

The present marbles king proved his mettle in the finals staged here June 14 when he made a sizzling run of five straight games to defeat John H. Bell of Lincoln-Garfield, 11-9 and win the county crown.

Play On Beach

One of the finest marble courts in the nation has been laid out at Wildwood for the tournament. Wood-inclosed rings built on the hard-packed sand of the beach give the boys a fine shooting field, and the gallery is kept completely out of the playing area in bleachers.

Young Gwin has been non-committal on his chances in the finals, simply stating that "he will do his best to advance." County routers ask no more of their champion and will be eagerly awaiting the results. Win or lose everyone is sure Jimmy will give his opponent a tough struggle.

Thanks

The citizens of our community who have had the opportunity of visiting our new recreation center . . . "P. J. Flaherty Field", have been quite amazed at the extent of the development and loud in their praise of the idea behind the project. We are very proud of it ourselves . . . but we fully realize that we alone did not create it. There were many willing hands outside our organization who contributed extra time . . . extra service . . . and many helpful ideas.

We were pleasantly surprised to find we had so many grand friends among the businessmen . . . the city and county officials and employees . . . our local utilities . . . the merchants . . . and the private citizens as a group.

Accordingly, we feel that it is only right and proper to publicly express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all who in any way helped to make Flaherty Field the fine community playground that it is. We are especially grateful to the New Castle News and to WKST for the excellent news coverage of the progress and development of the project.

erate tone) to sit in a chair where you can see him for exactly 40 minutes, without comics, books, radio and the like. Don't argue with him. If he does not go to the chair promptly or if he leaves it before the time is up, spank him soundly. Limit physical punishment to these two situations. In new situations at home when you are sure you should say "no" or "don't," say it only once and in a moderate tone. If he does not obey promptly, assign him to the punishing chair. Don't repeat a command. Say it just once.

When you get him well under control at home, he should be prepared to go with you away from home. Even then he may try to outwit you from home. If he does, take him to another room and punish him just as you would at home. After he knows your word is good, he won't take further risks.

A Young Sister

In your letter you referred to a baby sister two years old. This lad may be suffering from jealousy. Almost surely he supposes he is not loved at home as she is. Try to have more good times with him when all is well. Dad should go places with this boy and make things with him. Try to have good times with the boy at meals with lots of smiles and laughter. Encourage him to tell jokes.

Though emphasis on these happier relations should aid greatly in the boys' cooperation, it alone hardly will suffice. He must learn some basic inhibitions. Once they are learned, happier relations with him can more easily be established. It is hard, almost impossible, for a parent to be as lovely with any child as he ought to be so long as the child has no respect for authority in his parents or anybody else.

Banana oil is not made from bananas, nor any other fruit, but is one of the numerous products derived from coal tar.

He stepped in adding several amendments which would put government restraints on the private rate agreements. His chief amendment would have required submission of the agreements to Congress "they could be approved. When this was rejected, he voted against the bill.

In a narrow, regional sense, this was not Tobey's fight. New England is in the favored freight rate zone. But the senator from New Hampshire has a sense of righteousness—a conscience—that makes him take on fights even though they may not immediately serve the special interests of his own state.

He stepped into another fight in the same way. That was when he stopped the confirmation of the president's friend, Edwin W. Pauley, to be undersecretary of the Navy. Tobey believed that Pauley was disqualified by his efforts to get the vast Tideland Oil reserves turned over to the states and thereby taken away from the federal government.

There was no political animus in this. Tobey had fought in behalf of Democratic nominees when he thought they were being unfairly attacked. One of them was New Dealer Aubrey Williams, whose nomination to a government bureau brought up the familiar charge of Communism. Tobey went back to a Democratic hero, Grover Cleveland, to find a powerful statement to rebuke those who were raising the Communist barge.

"Communism is a hateful thing and a menace to peace and organized government. But the Communism of combined wealth and capital, the outgrowth of overweening cupidity and selfishness which insidiously undermines the justice and integrity of free institutions, is not less dangerous than the Communism of oppressed poverty and toil which, exasperated by injustice and discontent, attacks with wild disorder the citadel of rule."

Tobey's fight on Pauley made President Truman angry. He wrote Tobey a curt, contemptuous letter. But Tobey is not one to bear a grudge. If and when the president vetoes the Reed-Bulwinkle bill, he will find Tobey fighting to sustain the veto. Tobey represents not just New Hampshire but the entire United States. A few more senators like him would be useful just now.

Tobey, the blunt-spoken New Hampshireman, is opposed to both those Communists. A deeply religious man, he draws inspiration and strength from the Bible. His political opponents have often been laid low by an apt passage from the scriptures intoned in Tobey's resounding basso profundo.

There is something about Tobey of an earlier America. For nearly forty years, he and his wife have held an interdenominational hymn festival on their farm near Temple, N. H., on the last Sunday in August. In late years, thousands have come from the surrounding countryside.

NEW BLACK RASPBERRY SHOOTS NEED PRUNING

New black raspberry shoots, if tipped, when they reach a height of about 20 inches, multiply their bearing potential for next year by sending out side branches. It may be necessary to go through the planting two or three times to pinch off the shoots at the right time. Tall shoots do not send out lateral arms as vigorously as those which are pinched back. The pruning can be done by hand, pinching off the tips with the fingers; by using pruning or thinning shears, or by swinging a heavy knife through the tops at the right height.

Learn-to-Swim Classes Ending Friday at YMCA

Jimmy Dart, physical director at the central branch of the Y. M. C. A., today announced that the annual learn-to-swim classes, given free of charge to all youths of the city each summer, concluded Friday.

During the 10 day period, 168 youngsters underwent instruction at the "Y" pool, with about 40 of the class expected to receive certificates denoting their ability to swim 60 feet.

Mr. Dart pointed out that it is impossible to turn out finished swimmers in such a short time, but he feels that great progress has been made with the entire class.

"If we can help the boys to overcome the fear of water and teach him basic strokes, we feel we have cleared the first hurdle in acquainting them with the water sport," he said.

"Boys who have received their instruction here will now feel more at home in the water and can settle down to become expert swimmers during the remainder of the summer," the director added.

Aiding Mr. Dart at the pool have been the following instructors—David Yee, Jimmy Peare, Bill Moore, John Kolunie and William Beynon. The entire class were treated to a dinner, movie, hike and swim this morning, it was announced.

G. I. Education Still Available

This Year's High School Graduates Can Still Be Eligible For College Education

Members of this year's high school graduating classes still have an opportunity to get credits for a college education under the GI Bill of Rights if they serve one day before congress declares the war officially over, according to M. Sgt. Charles P. Walsh of the local recruiting office. "This is one of the questions most frequently asked at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station," M. Sgt. Walsh said. "More than 1,000,000 young men are getting all, or part, of their higher education paid as a reward for their service in the armed forces. Thousands who never could have afforded college are getting their chance now—and many thousands more want the same opportunity."

"But there is this difference: In order to qualify under the GI Bill of Rights now a man must serve at least one day before congress officially terminates the war. After he has served 90 days, he is guaranteed one year's higher education with $500 tuition and $65 per month paid by the government when his enlistment is over."

"In addition, he gets an additional month of education for every month he serves prior to the official end of the war."

"If congress does not act to terminate the war officially high school seniors this year may earn some of the valuable benefits that approximately 100,000 of last year's classes are now earning."

According to German technicians, they have produced an unbreakable phonograph record which can be played more than 1000 times without perceptible wear.

TRUCKS HELP TO BUILD THOSE FINE NEW HIGHWAYS

It won't be long until the new Highway 422, between New Castle and the Ohio line will be ready for service. It will be a fine highway, engineered properly, built properly, capable of handling the traffic.

Over the state other fine new highways are being built, and the cost of all of them is being partially borne by the motor trucks.

In 1947 the motor trucks will pay over thirty million dollars into the state treasury for highway purposes. That's a lot of money, but Pennsylvania deserves the best. The motor truck industry appreciates good highways and is doing much to help pay for them.

The Circus Is Coming

We mean the Shrine Circus, presented to aid charitable purposes. It deserves your support.

Wampum And Ambridge Win Games In NBC Tourney Friday

Tourney Games For Tonight And Sunday Will Draw Crowds

Bessemer-Beaver Falls Legion; Universal Pottery-Butler Cubs Tonight

Sharpsville Meets Tigers; Westinghouse Battles Lawrence Indies Sunday

Wampum American Legion, leaders of the Lawrence County baseball league and Ambridge National Electric Products teams, advanced to the second round of the National Baseball Congress District tourney last night by victories over Ryan-town and South Hills, both city league teams, 10 to 5, and 4 to 2, at Flaherty field.

The tourney continues play this evening in the preliminary round by presenting in the first game at 6 o'clock the Beaver Falls Legion and the Bessemer team, the latter of the Lawrence County loop. In the night-cap contest this evening the Butler Cubs will tangle with the Universal Pottery of the city baseball league.

Prices Changed

With changed prices for the opening round games now in effect larger crowds are in prospect for the games, it was indicated. The prices now are 50 cents for general admission, 75 for reserved seats, and 25 for children under 12.

The crowd last night was not up to expectations, but the Johnson Bronze Employees Association look for larger crowds at the games to-night and Sunday now that the weather has warmed up, and it is slowly becoming "baseball weather."

Wampum Trips Ryan-town
Wampum Legion leaders of the Lawrence County league jumped into the second round by administering a 10 to 5 defeat of Ryan-town coming from behind in the fourth to take the lead after Ryan-town had bated in five runs in the big third inning, on a sustained hitting spree that sent Frank Powell to the showers and Wally Carroll took over.

Ryantown really kicked the game away in the field having seven errors chalked up against them, while Wampum had three miscues.

4 p. m.—Westinghouse of Sharon vs Lawrence Indies.

Carroll was the winning pitcher and Eddie Fee the loser, with Chuck Davis finishing for Ryan-town. Bating stars in the Ryan-town lineup were Jim McCready and Joe Mills. In the Ryan-town lineup the hitting stars were Peterson and Rogan.

Ambridge Edges South Hill

In one of the best tourney games to date the Ambridge National Electric Products club edged the South Hill team of the city baseball league 4 to 2 with Leroy Anderson, the losing pitcher, despite the fact that after the big four-hit and four-run first inning he did not permit an Ambridge hit. The winning hurler was young Chet Matanic, who had to be rescued by Joe Develic, a clever southpaw, in the sixth inning. Anderson deserved a better fate.

South Hill could not hit effectively with men on base. Matanic pitched himself out of two bad holes in the third and fifth innings with South Hill having men on second and third.

Jack Dout the veteran, playing in left for the South Hill team turned in the feature catch of the night in the fourth of a terrific liner that looked tagged for three sacks at first. Dout leaped into the air and pulled it down.

Ambridge's heart-breaking four runs for Anderson came in the first inning with two men down. Anderson fanned five men, and it was his hard smash to right field, that Ner-kevic allowed to get away from him that gave South Hill a run in the third inning Anderson scoring on a hit by Guy Barbato.

Expect Good Games

Fans who will vent their way to Flaherty field tonight and Sunday can rest assured of seeing two very fine games. Manager Davies of the Universals will pitch his ace Eddie Stewart, he said today. Manager Hoss Zidow could not say today who will take the hill Sunday, but it will probably be Evans or Savage.

Night baseball is taking a big hold here, the fans are getting a kick out of the national pastime played under the mazes. The players are getting more used to it now. They were a little confused at first by the bright lights.

Sarazen Making Run For Title In PGA Tourney

Aging Veteran Beats Sammy Sneed, Hogan, Locke, Demaret All Blasted Out.

DETROIT, June 21.—(INS)—Gene Sarazen led 15 of his juniors into the third round of the P. G. A. championship today, apparently unperturbed by the utter chaos which yesterday sacked the greatest quartet in golf.

The law of probability had vanished from the Plum Hollow golf club course this morning as the chipper, beknickered little Sarazen teed off for 36 holes of match play with Ky Laftoon, the erstwhile Chicagoan.

Behind them came seven more boats—14 other surviving golfers who were old, new, borrowed, blue and in the form sheet, downright unchampionlike.

There were Dick Metz vs. Art Bell, Claude Harmon vs. Jim Ferrier, Mike Turnesa vs. Lloyd Mangrum, Vic Ghezzi vs. Jim Turnesa, Lew Worsham vs. Reggie Myles, Chick Harbert vs. Ed. Oliver and Ed. Joseph vs. Leland Gibson.

But there was no Ben Hogan. No Bobby Locke. No Jimmy Demaret. No Sam Snead.

Yankees Defeat Newhouser Again

Rookie Frank Shea Has Indian Sign On Prince Hal, Indians Trim Red Sox

PIRATES WIN FROM PHILLIES

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, June 21.—Prince Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers, who perhaps was the best pitcher in the American league last year, is a discouraged and beaten man today because one fellow rookie has the Indian sign on him. The rookie, Frank (Spec) Shea of the New York Yankees, has beaten Prince Hal three times in as many tries this year. The Yankees figured it was an accident the first time it happened, but decided to use psychology and try it again. The psychology worked for the third straight time yesterday when Newhouser lasted only five innings against the Yankees, who beat the Tigers 5 to 3 and regained first place.

Masterson Good
The rookie Shea has won eight games, but may be no better than Washington's amazing Walter Masterson. Masterson, who has won six games, stretched his string of scoreless innings pitched to 35 last night when he blanked the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 0.

Boston's Red Sox, who had won eight straight, tumbled to second place when they were beaten under the arc lights by Cleveland, 3 to 2. Chicago at Philadelphia was rained out.

In the National league, the demoralized New York Giants muffed a chance to regain first place when they lost to St. Louis, 7 to 3, in a night game. The Cards settled the issue with a four-run rally in the seventh inning.

Pirates Beat Phils

Earlier, the pace-setting Boston Braves dropped a 6 to 5 decision to Chicago's Cubs, who rallied in the late innings to end their four-game losing streak and tie the idle Brooklyn Dodgers for third place. Tiny Bonham, former Yankee, won his first starting assignment for Pittsburgh when he held the Phillies to five hits and blanked them 6 to 0.

Other teams were idle. Spider webs are used for fish nets in New Guinea.

Eleven Crews In Poughkeepsie Race

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21. (INS)—Nearly 100,000 spectators will jam the banks of the Hudson River this evening to witness the revival of the famous Poughkeepsie Regatta, to be held this year over the three-mile distance. A record number of 11 varsity crews, two more than the previous high, will compete in the blue-ribbon classic of the rowing season oldest crew competition of its kind in America. There are no less than five favorites—California, Washington, Cornell, Navy and Princeton.

Williams Stops Tippy Larkin

NEW YORK, June 21.—(INS)—Tippy Larkin, veteran welterweight from Garfield, N. J., seems today to have relegated definitely to the pugilistic graveyard. The final "wake" over the once-classy Tippy was performed at Madison Square Garden last night when Ike Williams, the N. B. A. lightweight champion, knocked him out in four rounds. Williams was a 5 to 13 favorite.

INCREASE COST

HARRISBURG, June 21.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's fishing license fees were increased from $1.50 to $2. under a bill signed by Gov. James H. Duff. Sponsored by Rep. Ray L. Riley (R) Lycoming, the measure earmarked 25 cents of the increase for purchase and development of fishing grounds, stocking and research to improve facilities for anglers.

Armed Going After Rich Stakes Today

CHICAGO, June 21.—(INS)—The mighty Armed, Calumet Farm color-bearer, goes to the post in the $25,000 added Domino Handicap at Arlington Park today, seeking the top money in his quest to break Whirlaway's record for earnings. A victory today will add $20,800 to Armed's earnings, bringing his total to $503,575, only $57,586 less than Whirlaway's record of $561,161. Armed's triumph, however, is not assured. He is the favorite and will carry the top weight of 132 pounds, but he faces a fast field of 15 other contenders which are certain to press him.

Olson Captures Hawaiian Title

HONOLULU, June 21.—(INS)—Carl "Bobo" Olson, 158, held a hard fought ten round decision today from Paul Lewis, 159, young brother of John Henry Lewis, former light heavyweight champion. The fight was for the middleweight championship of the Hawaiian Islands and was witnessed by a capacity crowd last night in the Honolulu auditorium. Young Lewis was seconded by his brother.

Gala Air Derby Scheduled Sunday

Hundreds Of Hobbyists To Compete In Model Meet
At New Castle Airport

Hundreds of model airplane builders, proudly nursing their gasoline-powered "babies", will converge on the New Castle airport from three states Sunday to compete in one of the largest "air derbies" ever held in this part of the state.

Sponsored by the Optimist club of the city, which is acting as host for the hobby throng, the meet is guaranteed to provide all the thrills of a full-scale air show, and a great crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the many events.

Al Garren, president of the local Optimist chapter said today that he has received hundreds of entry forms from all over the area and the big meet has caught the fancy of model builders in many cities.

Many Events Planned

Many events are on the schedule for the all-day performance. These include stunt competition, the planes manipulated by their owners from control wires, cross-country hops, and even a giant ten-foot model controlled in flight by radio contact from the ground.

All shapes and sizes of planes are due to compete, from armed forces fighter plane replicas to speedy racers, whose originals fly in the national air races each year.

There will be no admission charge made and spectators who plan to take in this novel and fascinating show are reminded that ample parking space has been provided.

GRACE CHURCH V. S. ON PICNIC TODAY

Boys and girls and teachers of the Grace Bible Community church at East New Castle are enjoying a picnic today at the New Wilmington Park. The group left this morning at 9 o'clock.

The Daily Bible school of the church has been in operation for the past two weeks with the concluding program held on Friday evening in the church auditorium. The picnicers enjoyed a dinner at noon at the park and returned to the city later.

Elastic Fender May Ease Worry Of Woman Driver

PALO ALTO, Calif., June 21.—(INS)—An elastic automobile fender—a dream job whose dents could be snapped back into place—was seen as a possibility today in a paper read at the National Colloid Symposium at Stanford University.

The report was made by Prof. E. A. Hauser of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Dr. D. S. Farnham of the Midwest Rubber Reclaiming Company.

The scientists disclosed that in stretching an incredibly small piece of rubber they observed tiny beads of liquid appear on the surface of the particle.

They reduced from this that elastic materials are made of a combination of large molecules like short pieces of string loosely waded together, and small molecules of liquid filling the spaces between the strings.

When rubber is stretched the stringy molecules straighten out and force out the liquid molecules. When the rubber is relaxed the liquid molecules return to the interstices.

With this understanding of the fundamental nature of elasticity it may be possible to synthesize many useful plastics possessing quick elasticity. There are in use now plastics which when forced into a new shape will return slowly to their original mold.

William T. Wardie, R. D. 1, Leesburg, Mercer county, also has joined the corps.

Chief Burelli at the sub-station reminded vets and non-vets of the county that the local office is open from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily except Sundays, and on Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—Shares of modesty! Gregory Peck doesn't yet regard himself as a fully established movie star.

Just starting his ninth picture, Greg figures that if the public will still pay money to see him after he's made ten that he's really in.

He explained: "The late Carole Lombard said that a player should never consider himself a star until they'd made ten pictures."

"She said that if the public still wanted to see you after that many, you could count yourself made."

Had Solid Ideas
"I never had the good fortune to meet her, but I think her ideas are solid."

"I have a funny feeling that I should make ten before I do a stage play."

Greg has just started "Gentleman's Agreement" for Darryl Zanuck at 20th Century-Fox and your reporter had understood that he'd do a play on Broadway before he made another picture.

But, it'll be after the tenth picture before Greg returns to the stage.

As soon as "Gentleman's Agreement" is completed, probably in August, Greg and his co-star, Dorothy McGuire, will do some summer stock.

Greg said his next ambition is to do a good comedy.

"The only trouble is that good comedies are very hard to find," he added.

Celeste Loves Role
Celeste Holm, the vivacious musical comedy star, is playing her first dramatic role—and she loves it.

She's another of the top-flighters in "Gentleman's Agreement."

"It's so much easier on you in a dramatic role than a musical one," she said.

"You mean physically," your reporter said.

"Oh no," said Celeste, "mentally." "Is that really true," your reporter persisted.

"You know it's true," Celeste said, "most musical comedies are so silly."

"Whenever I play in one I have to close the top drawer of my mind."

Graphic Arts Industry Needs Disabled Vets

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—(INS)—Many branches of the graphic arts industry are open to disabled veterans, according to William J. Hagerty, field representative of the Department of Labor's apprentice training service.

"There are a number of operations in different printing trades that can be handled by men unable to do heavy work, lifting or moving about," he said.

Apprenticeable trades in the newspaper, book and job printing fields, according to the A. T. S. official, include printer-compositor, photo-engravers, stereotypers, electrotypers, finishers, pressmen and bindery workers.

In the lithographic field, he added, the list of trades include lithographer-artists, photographers, plate makers, pressmen and automatic feed operators.

"The greatest need for apprentices in the graphic arts industry lies in the printing plants and small newspaper plants in the smaller cities," he said. "In the metropolitan areas there are more openings in the field of lithography."

SIGN TAX MEASURES
HARRISBURG, June 21.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today signed legislation to grant the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia school districts new revenue sources.

The measures permitted Pittsburgh school districts to levy a per capita tax of from one to five dollars and empower both of the metropolitan districts to impose a one to four mill personal property tax and a mercantile levy of one mill on wholesale and a half mill on retail items.

It was not considered improper in the 17th century to blow one's nose on his host's tablecloth.

Lowered Hemlines May Trip You Up!

Dropping the hem a couple of inches may be all that is necessary to bring last year's dress up-to-date. Unfortunately, however, this is not always as practical as you might expect. The National Cleaners Institute points out that try-as-your-dry-cleaner-may it's sometimes impossible for him to erase the traces of alteration. All too often the worn nap and discoloration caused by the former hemline are a dead giveaway. And frequently there is a difference in the color below the original hemline where the cloth has been protected from fading.
